

UNIVERSITY WOMAN'S CLUB NEWSLETTER

President's Letter SUMMER, 2022

Greetings,

Welcome everyone. Hope you are all enjoying this lovely summer. I have spent most of the summer so far in Beaufort, North Carolina. Every evening we walk to the water and marvel at the colors of the sky and the reflections on the water. We look for our pet Sheepsheads at the end of the dock and watch the Great White Egrets catch minnows. When fall comes, I plan to be rested and ready for all the activities the University Woman's club has planned. This promises to be an amazing year.

We are so excited that things have opened up and we can enjoy holding programs and meetings in person. Our club activities are back in full swing, starting last April with our lovely in-person Spring Luncheon. We have welcomed new members to the UWC, and I'm happy to say that our current membership renewal is on track and coming in faster than last year. Please remember to send in those dues. Information on renewal is available on our website (<https:uwc.web.unc.edu>) under the Membership tab. Dues remain at $35. Checks are payable to UWC and mailed to University Woman's Club, PO Box 4561, Chapel Hill, NC 27515.

Providing scholarships for area women to attend UNC-Chapel Hill is one of the primary goals of our organization, and our annual scholarship fund received a boost of $710 from Board members honoring out-going President Carol Marshall.

Our first meeting of the new UWC year will be the Fall Reception, to be held on September 18, 2022 from 2-4 p.m. at the beautiful Sancar Turkish Cultural & Community Center. This center was built by the Aziz and Gwen Sancar Foundation. Aziz Sancar, a Sarah Graham Kenan Distinguished Professor in Biochemistry & Biophysics at UNC, was awarded the Nobel Prize in Chemistry and is the University's only living Nobel laureate. The center includes many stunning architectural features and furnishings from Turkey and is dedicated to providing an understanding of Turkish culture. The center is truly beautiful and well worth a visit.

I hope you'll plan to attend the Fall Reception. It's such an enjoyable opportunity to visit with your sister UWC members and learn all about the coming year's activities. And, of course, you can sign up to participate in the groups of your choosing.

In addition to ongoing activities, we have many outings planned for this year, which will be highlighted in upcoming newsletters. The Board and I look forward to seeing all of you at many or all of these events.

Sandra Pickering

In Our Own Backyard, Belvedere Garden Tour

May 4th was a beautiful, sunny spring day—perfect for a garden tour. UWC member Gail Norwood invited us to tour her wonderful private ‘Belvedere Garden,’ which has been featured in six magazines and was the cover story in an issue of Country Gardens Magazine.

A group of about twenty-five UWC members and guests arrived ready for a treat and we were not disappointed! The flowers were blooming and the ladies were happy and excited to be in such a beautiful setting.

After the tour, we met at Tandem Restaurant in Carr Mill Mall for a lovely lunch and conversation.

Do you have a place you have always wanted to visit but just never did or a place you have visited and would like to share with UWC members? We would love to hear your suggestions.

Recipe Collection: Many of you have said you are cooking more and like so many, you've also said you're searching for simple, easy recipes with fewer ingredients. UWC has been known in the past for publishing a cookbook. To help all of us, we will be publishing an easy recipe each month. If you have a great simple recipe with readily available ingredients, send it to Sandra Pickering at sjpickering52@gmail.com for possible publication.
